One of our stingy citizens thought to play a little trick on his cow, so he fed her sawdust one evening instead of bran. She ate the sawdust all right, thinking that her master was too poor to buy bran on account of the hard times, but when he went to milk next morning she gave down a quart of turpentine and a bundle of lath.—Lehi Banner.

The kickers on the farm are not so hard to get along with as the kickers in town. On the farm there is the kicking cow, and our long-eared friend, the mule, while in town there is the old mossback who wants all the municipal improvements without paying for them. The cow may be sold for beef, the mule traded for a shot-gun but nothing but a funeral will get rid of the town kicker.—Washington Co. News.

A schoolmaster once said to his pupils to the boy who would make the best piece of composition in five minutes on "How to Overcome Habit" he would give a prize. When the five minutes had expired a lad of nine years stood up and said: "Well, sir, habit is hard to overcome. If you take off the first letter it does not change 'abit.' If you take off another letter you still have a 'bit' left. If you take off still another the whole of 'it' remains. If you take off another it is not totally used up, all of which goes to show that if you want to get rid of habit you must throw it off all together." Result—He won it.—Ex.

Vernon, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wallis is improving after an attack of broncho pneumonia.

A word to you sonny—you little twelve or thirteen-year-old boy who is smoking cigarettes on the sly. What do you want to be when you grow up—a stalwart healthy, vigorous, and broad-shouldered man or a little puny, measly, no 'count, weak minded dude? If you want to be a man, strong like a man, with hair on your face, brains in your head and muscles in your limbs, you just leave those cigarettes alone. If you want to be a thing, pitted by your folks, despised by the girls, and held in contempt by the fellows, keep right on smoking and end your days in an insane asylum.—Ex.

Flossie is six years old. "Mamma" she asked one day, "if I get married will I have a husband like pa?" "Yes," replied the mother, with a smile.

"And if I don't get married will I have to be an old maid, like Aunt Kate?"

"Yes, Flossie."

"Mamma," she said, after a short pause, "it's a tough world for us women, ain't it?"—Ex.

Some people think it a mystery that notwithstanding good advice their boys grow up to be wild and reckless young men. If these boys were taught from infancy that home was the proper place for them after dark, rather than prowling around the streets, annoying well and sick people alike, much of this mystery might be explained, and young men with better moral character and more intelligent minds would be the result. No parent need expect pure morals in a boy that prowls the streets at night, even if he does go to Sunday School.—Tremont Times.

The only reason why a bank makes more money than a newspaper is that the banker insists on getting paid for what he does, and he always gets his pay in advance.

The newspaper man who conducts his business as a banker conducts his business, never has to beg for cordwood on subscription, accept alms given by men who advertise only because they want to "support the paper," or buy their way into society with newspaper puffs of social functions.

Is there any good reason why newspaper men should not be business men, just like bankers?—Ex.

Market Report.

Special to Garland Globe:

K. C. Stock Yards, Feb. 17, 1908.—Receipts of range cattle were small last week and included a good proportion of short fed range stuff from Oklahoma, embracing panhandle steers at 4 60, heifers 3 75 to 4 10, and bulls at 3 65. Colorado feeders sold at 4 20 to 4 30, one lot of extra high bred steers at 4 85 to go to the country, stockers 3 50 to 4 40. The market made some gains all along the line last week, steers advancing 10 to 20 cents and she stuff 20 to 30 cents, while stockers and feeders remained about steady. Run of cattle today is 12,000 head, she stuff and stockers steady, fed steers steady to 10 lower, under the influence of a big run and lower prices at Chicago. The mild weather has favored feeders and all over the feeding territory cattle have invariably done well. Because of the large number of short fed steers that have been marketed in the last six weeks, smaller supplies are expected for the future, and better prices may result. Demand and supply are evenly balanced, and a slight decrease in the supply would benefit the situation.

The mutton market has been uneven but there was no net change in prices last week. Run is 13,000 head today, market 10 lower, lambs from Monte Vista today at 6 65 to 6 80, a few medium class Arkansas Valley lambs at 6 50 to 6 65, feeding lambs 5 85 to 6 35, ewes worth 4 60 to 4 90, wethers 4 80 to 5 30, yearlings 5 50 to 6 20. The local situation is healthy, and the only disturbing feature for the past several weeks has been continual breaks in the East, together with reports of congested mutton stocks there because of mild weather, which is against heavy consumption of meats.
